

8 Dataset-level metadata

In the statistical community harmonised dataset-level metadata are covered by an international standard called SDMX (Statistical Data- and Metadata exchange). Due to the complexity of the geographical and the statistical systems a synopsis of the approaches is beyond the scope of this document. It is part of the future mission to converge the geographical and statistical world.